

Each month, I am forced to pay a substantial amount of extra money for my telephone service to purchase Caller ID, No Solicitation, and Security Screen in order to stop the repeated intrusions of telemarketers. I have also received numerous pre-recorded telemarketing calls that have ignored the No Solicitation announcement.

The response to any protest to these telemarketers are thuggish threats. These are not nice people.

I request the FCC to institute a national do-not-call list, with no exemptions whatsoever. This includes "tax-emempt" callers; one of the very worst is Integrated Credit Solutions which uses this as an argument to continue its harassment.
